DEDICATION

To you, Doc and Guy, for your many years of service and friendship, and the unfailing support you have given the school and the athletic teams, we, the class of 1953 wish to express our most heartfelt thanks for these and all the other services you have rendered throughout the community, and most of all to the students of E. H. S., by dedicating this annual to you.

Class Prophecy

The year is 1963. DeForest Rall, back home on a much needed vacation from the lofty Ozarks where he is a professor of English, is making his temporary home in his native hills, where the elevation isn't as high. Upon hearing that Yvonne Hatlestad is teaching typing and music at the University of Merricourt, he decided to look her up. On the way through the city he decided to look her up. On the way through the city he stopped at Pauncho's Cassino where I, Gary Edwards, was relaxing while my jet plane, "The Flying Tiger," was being refueled after having to make an emergency landing at the Merricourt Airport. Learning of Vonnies fame from Frosty, I declared to accompany him to the University.

While visiting Vonnies, we got the idea of visiting our former classmates in their various homes. We all hopped into my jet and away we went to Ellendale, where I had some business to attend to. On our way, whom should we see but Douglas Bell waving to us from his home on Duane Road, where he seems to be a coach now and raising his own team at that. Toot, toot! What do we hear now? It is Wayne Cherney, engineering his Galloping Goose along the tracks below us. Just as we were getting ready to take off from Ellendale on our long journey, whom should we run into but Darlene Rexinger walking into town from the south. Rex said that she was the first woman to walk all forty-eight states. She decided to ride a-while and go along with us on our trip, and we finally got underway.

Our first stop was at the giant metropolis of Frederick where we visited Connie Burow. It seems Connie has started a junk yard in Frederick so that her husband wouldn't have to drive so far to work. We heard that another of our class was going to be in Frederick that evening. Stan and his Country Boys were furnishing the music for the dance in town that night and they had as their singing star Dawn Combellick. Dawn also played the fiddle for them. It seems in order to make a living though, Dawn was singing the Chesterfield commercials over station P.U. in Winship, South Dakota.

We couldn't stay for the dance as we had a lot of ground to cover, so off we went again heading south. We stopped at the Beecher Cafe, Inc. in Aberdeen, where Mrs. Luella Hall Beecher, is chief cook and bottle washer. While the ladies shopped, Frosty and I stopped in at the Casbah for refreshments and whom should we hear but the popular night club entertainer, Avis Roeszler. Not wanting to keep the ladies waiting, we had to hurry back to the plane. Leaving Aberdeen, we headed south-west for Denver, Colorado, where we stopped for Vonnies to satisfy her hunger once more. While at the lunch counter we bought a paper and whose picture should we see but that of Jo Anne Kirmis, the first woman globe trotter. She and Goose Tatum are now averaging 60 points a game. Taking off again we headed west for Reno, Nevada, where we heard that Mavis Aman is a slot machine vendor in Dulcie Bell's night club. Reaching Reno, we found that the fog was too thick to attempt a landing, so we tipped our wings and headed for Hollywood.

As we flew over Hollywood, we looked down and saw a familiar car. It was Lorne Bobbet's Mercury and there he was in his tent on Marilyn Monroe's doorstep still patiently waiting. As we flew on, we saw a baseball club playing in the crisp California sunshine, so we decided to land and watch them work out. Much to our surprise we saw our old classmate Ray Pomplun playing third base. Ray says that his team is called the Hornets and are a class X ball club, but are working up fast.

Leaving Ray, we journey forth again heading south to New Mexico, where we went to do some shopping and whom should we see but Marion Zinter, now a woman natador. Maizie says she loves the sport, and it is profitable too. Leaving Mexico, we flew into Texas, where we had heard that some of our classmates now live and work. Landing at Del Rio, we saw an advertisement which read, "Women, are you weak and puny? I can change you, for I build women out of weaklings. Joan Retzlaff." We failed to dig Joan up though, so we had to move on without seeing her.

we were walking along when we saw a crowd of people going toward a speaking platform where a man was talking loudly and waving his arms. Following along, we learned that the young man was speaking at a mass meeting of the Alcohol Anonymous Club. Pushing closer, we almost fell over to see that the speaker was none other than Elden Reinke. Well, we could not stay until Elden got through, so we took off again bound for Oklahoma.

I wanted to see my uncle while in the area. While I was at his house, Vonnice, Rex, and Frosty went sightseeing. When we were regrouped once more, they told me of seeing Norman West, now the smoke ring champion of the world. They said too that Frank Heitman was also in town. Frank, who is now the heavy weight wrestling champion of the world, was taking on Primo Corners tonight at the local arena.

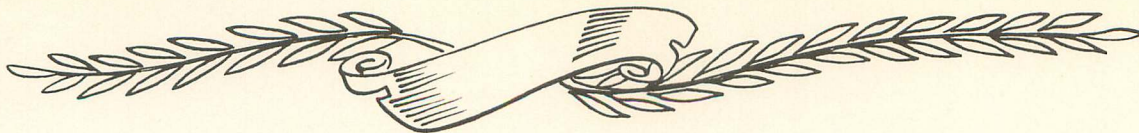

After leaving my uncle's place, we took a taxi back to the air port and who should be driving it but Marvin Brandenburger. We talked as we rode out to the airport and then we were off again heading northeast for Missouri. We stopped in at Excelsior Springs to see Marilyn Hagel. It seems Marilyn had a nervous breakdown trying to decide which boyfriend to stick with. After we had finished talking to Marilyn, we stopped off at the theater and whom should we see but La Verne Burlingame, the young Graucho Marks.

Leaving Missouri, we flew to Chicago, to watch Loren Tiegs, alias Johnny Ray, do his afternoon show. After the show we asked Loren where Betty Olson was now, and he told us that she was at home raising little Johnny Rays. We left Loren and walked down the street, when we heard Vonnice's name called and there leaning out of a window was Evelyn Fleming, who told us that she was now head secretary of the Easy Blow Bubble Gum Company. Evelyn told us that Dora Uecker was head of the city library here in Chicago. She has finally caught up on her reading.

Leaving Chicago, we made a big jump over to New York City, where we were just in time to see Jean Dobler, who was preparing to leave for Germany to purchase a new Austin. After Jean's boat had left, we ate supper in New York and headed back. In Wisconsin we stopped and visited with Angela Heine, who is now a dairy maid taking pictures of contented cows for Borden's. Leaving Angela, we flew to Minnesota where we saw James Billey ready to go back to Ellendale, so we took him along with us. On the way, James told us that he couldn't decide which farm it would be--the one north, east, or west of Ellendale.

Finally we reached Ellendale again and dropped James off and went into the airport to land. Much to our surprise, we saw that LaVerne Gerling was the head greasemonkey there. LaVerne told us that Norman Stahlecker was running a light bulb factory here in Ellendale while waiting for Rosemary. Carolyn Pierce is also, we were told, near here in the city of Potsdam. She is trying to decide whether it will be Cuba, Korea, or Ellendale. Well, that is the way we found our classmates in 1963, and as we parted each to go his own way once more, in all of our hearts there was hope that we could do it again sometime in the near future.

Class Will

We, the members of the Senior Class of Ellendale, North Dakota, having been thoroughly examined and tested by capable psychiatrists and brain specialists and pronounced reasonably sane and able to negotiate such an important and vital document, do hereby execute and declare this to be our last will and testament, and do hereby declare all previous wills, if any, or promises by us, individually or collectively, and whether verbal or written, to be null and void, to wit:

- I. We bequeath to the faculty and school officials our sincere apologies for all the headaches and heartaches they may have suffered in the training and development of our youthful minds.
- II. We bequeath our most humble apologies to Jake and Charlie for any mischief that we may have perpetrated in an about the building which may have inconvenienced them in any way.
- III. We hereby bequeath to the Juniors all the "requisites" and attachments and properties that proverbially belong to the Senior Class. In turning over these valued articles to the erstwhile irresponsible Juniors, we hereby admonish them to carefully guard, protect and cherish their gifts as they would their very lives.
- IV. We leave to the Sophomores the right of taking over the Junior desks, concessions, plays, various projects, and other miscellaneous adventures, misadventures, and the annual preparation of the prom.
- V. To the Freshmen we leave hope and endurance to carry them through initiation and the years that follow. We also leave them the hope of someday becoming Seniors if they live through their Sophomore and Junior years.
- VI. Likewise we individually bequeath the following gifts:
 - I, Mavis Aman, leave my "Ch"erman accent to Kay Crabtree.
 - I, Douglas Bell, leave my egotistical personality to Margaret Ashmore.
 - I, Dulcie Bell, leave my twirling form and talent to all my young admirers on the first floor.
 - I, James Billey, leave to Lee Roetzler my ability to play the trombone in hopes that he will learn to blow something besides those horrible "plit-pluts."
 - I, La Verne Burlingame, leave some of my height to Delbert Nelson so he may stretch his extra pounds over a larger frame.
 - I, Lorne Bobbe, leave my ability to deposit a stick of gum in the waste basket daily to Blondell Zimmerman.
 - I, Constance Burrow, leave my success south of the border to other romanticists.
 - I, Marvin Brandenburger, leave my calm and restrained actions to Ned Leiby in dire hopes that he will use them.

I, Wayne Cherney, leave my ability to run the mile to the Shuldheiz gals.

I, Dawn Combellick, leave my ability to giggle to make life cheery after I'm gone to every one left in E.H.S.

I, Jean Dobler, leave my Austin to my sister. Use it, Kathy!

I, Gary Edwards, bequeath my old battered rattletrap to anyone who has his life insurance paid.

I, Evelyn Fleming, leave my housekeeping abilities to "Chef" Emil Cherney.

I, LaVerne Gerling, leave to Harlen Stahlecker my key to the door of success.

I, Frank Heitman, would just like to leave.

I, Yvonne Hatlestad, leave my bobbing curls to Patty Ashmore in hopes that she can shake 'em as I did.

I, Angela Heine, leave my close-call accident records to Jerry Lautt to add to his own.

I, JoAnne Kirmis, leave my athletic ability to Donna Lea Smalley.

I, Marilyn Hagel, leave my ability to remain faithful to my boyfriend in the armed service to anyone in like circumstances.

I, Luella Hall, leave my ability to play hookey to Marlene Morgan. (Here's hoping you can keep getting by with it, Marlene.)

I, Betty Olson, leave my blushes and temper to my sister (maybe) LaPalma Tiegs.

I, Carolyn Pierce, leave my Air Mail stationery to any one involved in a like fix.

I, Raymond Pomplun, leave my ability to flunk a test to Melvin Avery.

I, Joanne Retzlaff, leave my ability to go steady to Ethelyn Edwards.

I, Darlene Rexinger, do transmit my amazing endurance gained by my long hitchhiking tours to Shirley Merkel.

I, Avis Roetzler, leave my love of costume jewelry to Darlene Dathe.

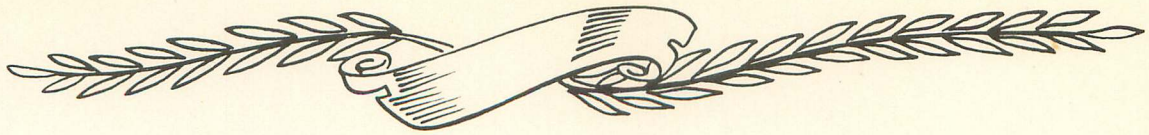

I, Elden Reinke, leave my sincere love of the Kulm boys to Jackie Van Sickle.

I, DeForest Rall, leave my ability to filibuster in every class to Robert Schaller.

I, Normen Stahlecker, leave my dancing techniques to Virgil Dewald.

I, Loren Tiegs, do bequeath my vocal talent to anyone that can sing.

I, Norman West, do bequeath my corkscrew to Lowell Edwards.

I, Dora Uecker, can't spare a thing.

I, Marion Zinter, leave my love for the Ipswich boys to the Ipswich girls.

VII. Any other will of testament made by us is declared null and void upon the publication of this, our last one.

In witness thereof we do set our hand and seal upon this will on this memorable month of May, one thousand nine hundred and fifty-three.

Class History

We, the class of 1953, began school in 1941 when about 40 eager first graders started their education. Of these only three have remained to the end. They are Joan Retzlaff, James Billey, and Jean Dobler. The rest of the present senior class have joined these three, either in the grades or in high school.

After going through the usual trials and tribulations of elementary students-quarrels, pranks, and punishemtns, we finally entered Junior High School.

In 1949, 42 green freshmen began their high-school career. This was a big increase over the eighth grade enrollment of 22. This year was the wonderful beginning of our high school days. After we got over the daze we began to take part in the parties and fun of high school life. We gathered up all our courage and even put on a couple of parties ourselves. We chose Marilyn Hagel and Joan Retzlaff to be our cheer leaders.

Our junior year was a busy one. We put on the play Napoleon, Jr. to make money for the Junior-Senior prom. Our theme was A Trip To The Moon. We ended the year with a trip to Jamestown for our class picnic.

This year 33 seniors moved over to the last two rows in Senior Assembly to finish our last lap in our high school days. We elected Wayne Cherney president, Douglas Bell vice-president, JoAnne Kirmis secretary, James Billey treasurer, and Superintendent Ingvalson as our adviser. As seniors we had eight foot-ball lettermen and two basketball lettermen. Seven girls took part in twirling and received pins for three years of service. Twelve members received music lyres for their activities in Glee Club and Mixed Chorus. Five students were given membership in the Keystone Honor Society. We undertook to publish the school paper and did a very good job of it. We put on the play the Whole Town is Laughing sponsored several parties, and put out the annual Microphone.

We will always be grateful to our parents and teachers for making it possible for us to arrive at this juncture of our educational career, and so with mingled sadness and rejoicing, we bid you Au Revoir.

Six Ellendale Youths Named For Boys State

Names of six Ellendale high school youths who are slated to attend the 12th annual North Dakota Boys State next month were released this week by E. J. King, adjutant of the local American Legion post.

They are Robert Jury, John Mouw, Delbert Nelson, Larry Wilbur, Ned Leiby and Keith Noess.

Expenses for the trip and convention are being paid by several local organizations, including the Community Chest, which is sending Jury and Mouw, the Benefit association, which is sponsoring Nelson, the Community Club, which is backing Wilbur, the American Legion, sending Leiby and the Advertising association, sponsoring Noess.

Boys State, a citizenship training program for American boys, is to be held June 21-28 on the campus of the North Dakota Agricultural college in Fargo.

Sponsored by the American Legion, the convention gives those who attend an opportunity to learn the responsibilities and privileges of free democratic government by actually doing the work of governing a mythical state and its subdivisions.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The annual Christmas program was presented on December 19, 1952, by the grade and high school choruses.

The high school chorus was under the direction of Mr. Winton S. Melby, and Mrs. Anna Mae Hill had charge of the grade music. Accompanists were Kay Crabtree, JoAnne Kirmis, and Yvonne Hatlestad.

Staging and decorating were in charge of the following faculty members: Ruby Sukut, Karen Anderson, Bernice Rollo, Cliff Isachsen, and Loren Johnson. Ray Shelver served as the electrician.

At the beginning of the year, the twirlers picked Luella Hall as their majorette for this year, and Virginia Weispfenning as next years' majorette.

The twirlers preformed at many basketball games, and at one football game. They had a bake sale and raffled off a radio to finance their new uniforms which they wore for the tournament.

Eight senior girls will receive twirling pins at the end of the year. One junior, Barbara Pomplun will receive a twirling letter.

Speech activities

The ELOE speech festival was held March 12, 1953, at the Edgeley High School gymnasium. The following numbers were presented by Ellendale:

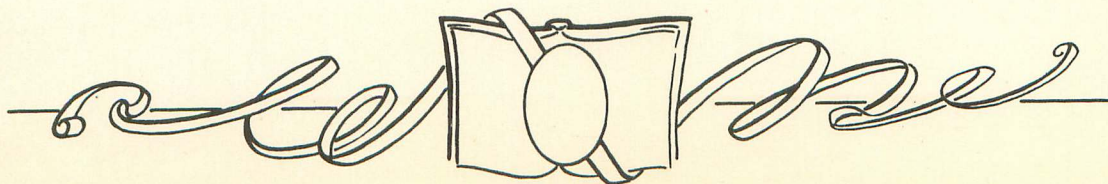

"A Few Words" (skit) . . . Blondell Zimmerman and Mary Ann McClellan
Verse Reading.Dawn Combellick
"America is Everybody's Business" (original)Angela Heine

The group was entertained in the home economics room and was given constructive appraisal of the program by Mrs. Clara T. Ingvalson, director of speech at the State Normal and Industrial College.

A one act play, "The Blue Teapot", was presented in Oakes at the One-Act Play Festival. The cast of characters are as follows:

Mother	Karen McShane
Father	Emil Cherney
Cynthia.	Joan Retzlaff
Jimmy.	Douglas Bell

The play centered around Cynthia and Jimmy, who were planning to be married, but disagreed about many things. Mother and Father played cupid, and managed to make Cynthia and Jimmy see that they were both wrong, and this helped them to be sure of each other.

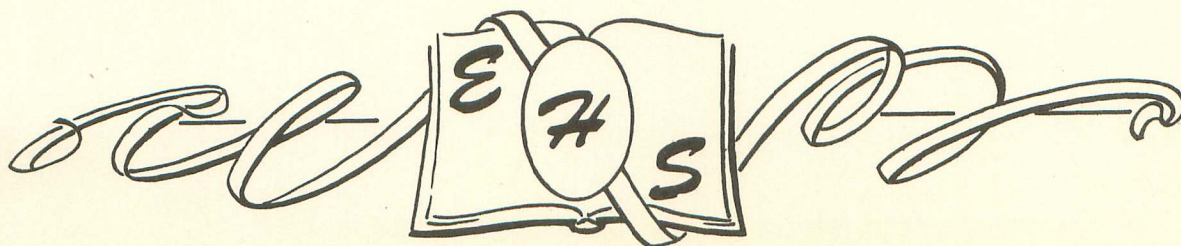

Senior Play

"The Whole Town's Laughing", a farce in three acts was presented by the senior class on April 24, 1953. The play was under the direction of Miss Mina C. Onsrud.

The play centers around the wealthy and so called titled Brien-Moore family who suddenly lose all their money and their "put-on" social position. The whole town laughs, but Douglas Brien-Moore turns the tables and once again, the family is back on its feet.

CAST:

Douglas Brien-Moore..(Who is ancestor consious).....Gary Edwards

Junior Play

The Junior Class Play was given December 11, 1952 at 8 o'clock in the High School Auditorium.

"Professor, How Could You?"

Members of the cast were as follows:

Grandma.....	Karen McShane
Grandpa.....	Emil Cherney
Proper Butler.....	Lowell Edwards
John.....	Ned Leiby
Pricilla.....	Kathern Dobler
Valerie.....	Marlene Morgan
Vicky.....	Mary Ann McCllans
Professor.....	Harlen Stahlecker
Butcher Boy.....	Delbert Nelson

In the play Vicky's pranks are usually considered cute but this one time Professor Perry, Vicky's teacher, has ordered Vicky to call and apologize or drop his course. Vicky sulkily obeys, but she finds an opportunity to "get even". She overhears a bit of gossip--Professor Perry has been offered a deanship--if he can get a wife. His friend John, offers his curly-headed brainless secretary as an ideal wife. Grandma's candidate is Tootsie Bean; plump, but a masterband with lemon chiffon pie. Vicky, longing for revenge, proposes a friend, Valerie, a southern girl who makes a fool out of every man she meets. Grandpa, too, has a candidate, but won't reveal her name.

Tootsie Bean bribes Professor Perry with one of her pies. The candidates meet with Professor Perry at a planned dinner. In the mean time, Grandpa has rumored about that Perry has proposed to elope, so all the candidates meet at Professor Perry's house and are ready to dash to matrimony. John comes to his friend's rescue, dressed like a woman trailing three small youngsters and passes for the Professor's long-lost wife.

The three candidates console themselves elsewhere, but Grandpa's candidate, Vicky, wins the Professor and becomes his wife.

- Row 2: Coach Isachsen, James Billey, Normen Stahlecker, Larry Hagen, Wayne Cherney, Dick Schonberger, Eddy Nishek, and Assistant Coach Loren Johnson.
- Row 3: Melvin Zinter, Randolph Rime, Calvin Dathe, Jack VanSickle, Melvin Avery, Bob Schaller, and Bob Jury.

The 1952 football season was quite successful in some ways, though the game records did not show it. This, combined with a few costly fumbles and general hard luck, kept the team from doing better. The team's and the coach's efforts made the season a successful one as a whole. When the situation seemed bad, the high spirit shown by the team was especially noticeable. The team either lacked experience or reserves for many positions on the team.

High Point Men of The Season
 Ned Leiby 368
 Harlen Stahlecker

Through the 52-53 basketball season the Cardinals won twelve out of twenty-two games, ending the most successful season for four years. This was a fine record considering the frequent height disadvantage.

The Cards defeated LaMoure, Kulm, and Edgeley to bring home first place honors at the Kulm Invitational tourney.

Badly shattered by the loss of captain Stahlecker, the Cards could only muster sixth place in the district tournament held in Ellendale. Through out the year, the team and coach devoted much time and energy to make the team what it was.

AUTOGRAPHS

AUTOGRAPHS

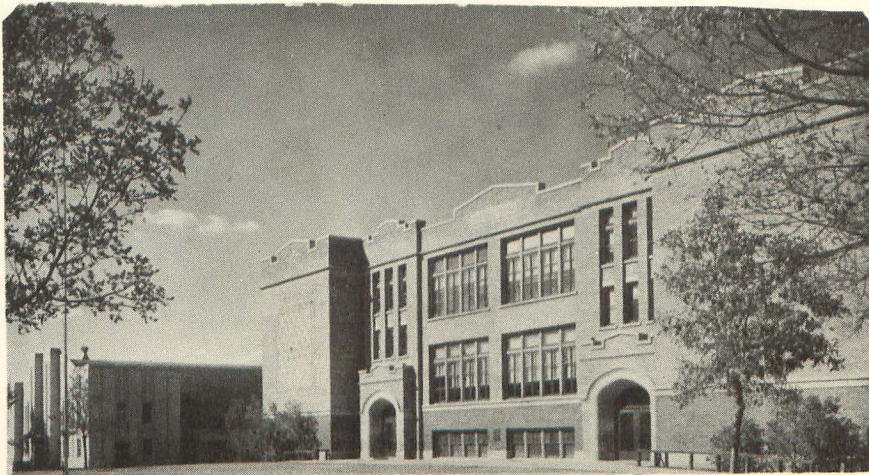

We the class of '53 have come to the climax of our high school days. We must disband and go forth to remain only in the school history and our own sweet memories.

From the time we entered high school as green freshmen until now we have enjoyed every experience even though the road was a little rough at times.

Now, as graduating teammates, we can look back on four years of high school as a happy memory of school parties, games, plays, the prom and school romances.

As we part we shall miss our school and our teachers who have so patiently and willingly guided us in our march for knowledge. With hope in our heart we set forth in the world to build a future.

In Retrospect
